> ASHINGTON, April 5 - [Ex-clusive Dispatch.] Russia has given a clean-cut answer to the inquiry made by the United States respecting her intentions in Manchuria, and she assures this government in writing now that territory and will occupy it only during the period while law and order are being set up again. This assurance. being set up again. This assurance comes direct from the Russian gov-ernment, and was handed to Secre-sini.

Russia clearly and emphatically states that she has no intention of doing anything in Manchuria that would not meet the approval of the other powers who are her allies in China. She goes on to relate that she finds it necessary to occupy this territory, during the period of disorder there simply for the protection of her own interests in it. She declares that as soon as the She declares that as soon as the purposes for which all the powers entered China are carried out it is her intention to withdraw from

This statement, formally made, must be taken by the United States and other powers in its exact lan-guage, and so it disposes, or will dispose, of friction over Manchuria. dispose, of friction over Manchuria. Russia has not reretofore officially and formally declared her intenand formally declared her inten-tions in regard to Manchuria, although her statesmen have made talks about these intensions. But in the paper received by Secretary of State Hay today, Russia herself is talking officially, and what she says about this important and deli-cate point settles the matter until such time as she violates her written promise.

This government was greatly pleased to receive these assurances from Russia. They mark another diplomatic victory for the American State Department. While all other governments were having fits over Russian aggression in Manchuria, Secretary Hay went ahead to find out what there was to get excited about. He was actually laughed at by every Foreign Office in Europe, and Japan sharpened her sword and polished her guns. Now that Russia has placed herself upon record finelly and firmly, and through Mr. Hay's direct inquiries, the officials of the government are elated, and attention is being quietly called to the fact that every diplomatic or other victory won in China, from the rescue of the ministers at Peking down, has been through American action or suggestions.

thenticity, Russia has withdrawn the proposed Manchurian of Emperor Micholas, and is accepted as evidence of his determination to avoid at present juncture any conflict with Japan.

Coupled with this news comes the statement that Russia does not deem it expedient to withdraw any of her it troops now in Manchuria, and intends to maintain statu quo thera until the Chinese government can be established at Peking strong and stable enough to inspire Russian confidence for the future.

This courteous and unexpected withdrawal of the proposed Manchurian convention, until now so aggressively urged upon China, is regarded as an accessfully clever move on the part of Russia, because that treaty, which could only be wrung from China by renewed drastic pressure, would, after all, only secure empty international all peace negotiations with China wiff be greatly facilitated by Russia's withdrawal of the convention, which, by postponing a settlement of the Manchurian difficulty, reduces the affair to one of local interest. SUSPECTED BANK ROBBERS.

Well-known Crook.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.) CHARDON (O.,) April 5.—Two men arrested at Willoughby yesserday on the charge of having participated in the robbery of the bank here Wednesday night, have been brought here. One is a heavy-set man and Marshal Conneil of Parksville asserts he recognises the man as a well-known orock.

The other one has completely lost his nerve and is expected to make a confession implicating the rest of the gang, who escaped toward Buffalo. Bloodstains on papers recovered near the scene of the robbery indicate that one of the robbers was severely wounded during the fusiliade.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.1 LITTLE MOUNTAIN (O.,) April 5.—While the family of John Lemon was entertaining some neighbors last night three men, supposed to be members of the gang that robbed the Chardon bank Wednesday night, rapped at the door and asked for food. Upon being refused the strangers drew revolvers and emptied them into the dwelling. The occupants escaped through a door and none was struck. At daybreak Lemon returned to find his house ransacked and ilioù all the money he had, missing. The country for miles around has been aroused and an armed posse of farmers with dogs, is searching for the robbers. Little Mountain is four miles north of Chardon.

UTAH AND PACIFIC. SALT LAKE, April 5.-[Exand Pacific Rallway, running from Milford, Utah, to Uvada, on the Utah-Nevada line, has been purchased by the Oregon Short Line Railway, the control passing to the latter road today. The price paid for the entire holdings of the Utah and Pacific was $1,050,000. The road was originally stocked for $825,000 and bonded for $672,000. Of these bonds, the Oregon Short Line already held $279,000 for rolling stock, steel and ties put into the construction of the road. Of the remaining $393,000 in bonds, D. Eccles of Ogden owned $198,000 and A. W. Mc-Cune of Salt Lake $197,000. It is now stated that dirt will begin to fly in the near future, and that the road will be pushed to Los Angeles. This will mean that the Clark Pedro will be fought as an independent line. While some say there will be a lively race between the two roads to the Coast, others are thinking that the Clark project will be abandoned to the extent that the line will not be an inde-

The Philadelphia, Trenton and New York Railroad Company has been capitalized at $500,000, but this is regarded as only a beginning.

The Johnson syndicate already owns the trolley line running between Princeton and Trenton and also the upper Delaware River bridge. The latter was acquired when the syndicate recently got control of the New Jersey Street Railroad Company. The line of the Trenton-Princeton road will be extended within a few weeks to New Brunswick, and from that point to the Staten Island terminal, over a right of way which has already been obtained by the Johnson syndicate.

It is the purpose of Johnson to charge a 50-cent fare between this city and Philadelphia, which is a small fraction of that charged by the steam railroads. He intends to compete with the latter not only in passenger traffic, but in the hauling of freight.

CAN FRANCISCO, April 5 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe traffic officials deny that there is any disposition on their part to prevent the shipment of oranges from Southern California to eastern markets by way of the water route to Seattle and the Great Northern to St. Paul. They say they regard the route as impracticable, and are willing the shippers should experiment with the route until they satisfy themselves of the fact.

A prominent official of the Santa Fe road in discussing the matter, said: "Why, we are not making any attempt to stop the shipment of oranges via Seattle. We could stop all such shipments in a minute, were we so inclined. The initial lines have the routing of all this business, and we could decline to turn the business over to the ocean carrier at Redondo, if destined to any point reached by rail, if we saw fit.

"We are allowing the growers to do as they please in this matter, however, for we are confident that oranges can never move in large quantities via the Sound route."

NO RATE REDUCTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Freight Traffic Manager Sproule of the Southern Pacific Company announced today that the company would make no reduction in freight rates on green fruit shipments to the eastern markets for the season now about to commence. The old rates, which are still to continue in force, are $1.25 on the hundred pounds to Chicago and the West; $1.50 to New York and Philadelphia, and $1.56 to

The question of giving the growers and shippers a six-day train service to Chicago is still in abeyance. Southern Pacific officials announce that their company will not be in a position to give the growers a final answer on the question of a train service until the season is about to

Owing to the early advance of the season and the necessity of shipping oranges East under refrigeration at this early date, it has been found necessary to make large shipments of ice to 'the southern part of the State to make up a big deficiency in the ice supply. On an average, 250 tons of ice are now being shipped daily from Truckee to Los Angeles.

the addition of twenty stamps. Forty stamps have been added during the past year, since Mackay took an option.

The deeds recorded today transfer fifteen patented claims and fifteen unpatented claims for a consideration of 4,000,000. The consideration named for the mill, store, buildings and other improvements is placed at $1,000,000, making the aggregate of the deal $5,000,000. The deeds for the mines bore revenue stamps aggregating $4000.

The principal owners of the mine previous to this transfer were F. M. Murphy, president of the Santa Fe. Prescott and Phoenix Railroad; E. B. Gage of Prescott, formerly of the Grand Central mine of Tombstone, and N. K. Fairbank of Chicago. Gage and Murphy have taken bonds and options on numerous other properties in this county which they are developing, and also expect to open up again the rich mines of Tombstone, which were abandoned on account of trouble over pumping the beavy flow of water from the mines. The law passed by the recent Legislature compels a mined drained by pumping operations of an adjacent mine to bear its proportion of the expense.

KRUGER TALKS OF THE WAR

Boers Fight But for Independence.

British Will Have to Yield at Last.

Destruction of Trains Continues-Attempt to Cross the Orange Fails.

PARIS, April 5.—[By Atlantic Cable.] in Interview with Kruger appears in he Matin. The former president of the Transvaal was seen in a modest little inn at Utrecht, where he is stopping for the moment. His eyes have been very much improved by recent operations, and he can now dispense with spectacles.

Sitting in front of a table, with a Bible urder his left hand. Kruger de-livered himself of an important state-ment, to which further significan-tion, to which further significan-tion by the presence of the Orwas given by the presence of the Orange Free State delegate. Herr Pischer. Kruger began by announcing that, Sa'urday next, he proposed retiring into the country for complete rest. The little village of Hilberaum, not far from Utrecht, has been selected for his abode. Nothing has yet been decided regarding his trip to America. Mruger will undertake the journey if his strength permits, and if there is any hope of pasning advantage for the Boer causa. Fointing to Herr Fischer, the age. the age. President usclared that the two republics were indissolubly united. "Herr Fischer," he said, "is fighting for the same cause as my heroic friend, President Steyn. The two Presidents and the two commanding generals, Botha and Dewet, will share the same fate."

On being questioned regarding the reliance which he placed on the Boer official telegrams and statements in Parliament, Kruger, had-rising from his armchair, declared:

"The British government, British telegraph and the British press always try to make this much—" and he measured his little dinger—"look like this much—," and he gatended both arms."

Tam persuaded everything is going well out there, precisely because our enemies continue to dissimulate and travesty facts.

"As regards Gen Botha's negotiations, the public knows from the Blue Book and by reading Gen. Botha's last dispatch that it was the British general who first made proposals. Never did the Boer general refuse to listen. We do not fight except for peace. We are not conquerors, but, although Gen. Botha listened to the British proposals, he sever uttered a word of equivocation on the subject of independence.

THE ONE THING.

THE ONE THING.

The one the subject of independence.

The one thing.

The one thing.

The one the only treasure we cherish, even if we have to sacrifice all others. It is for this reason our citizens forecook their farms and sacrificed their lives, and our women and children now suffer temporary envitude in the enemy's camp.

"And," declared the President, with still more emphasis, "if the haglish twere not blind, if they convidered their own interests well, if they were not hopelessly enslaved by error and injustice, they would recognize the independence we demand, because in the hope of safeguarding 4t we shall be ready to make many concessions and serifices, and, moreover, it would assure peace forever in South Africa.

The subject of arbitration being next proached, Kruger expressed his entire readiness to submit all questions to the abitrament of an impair al tribusal, not even excepting the question of independence.

"We would sacrifice our liberty," he said, "if the verdict or arbitration decided that one or the other of the republics has done anything to farriet it. But on that point we are at rest."

Here the Bible was invoked, Kruger reading a passage from the Psalms in cided that one or the other of the republics has done anything to forciti it. But on that point we are at rest."

Hare the Bible was invoked. Kruger reading a passage from the Fealms in which David calls upon the Lord, and asks if there be any spot or ble m sh in him, or whether he had committed any miseced.

"But, like David," he sai!, "we have known that we are less impure than our aggressors, and that our cause is being and just. Therefore, we fear not the judgment of the just, and rely on the mercy of God."

British atrocities was the next topic of conversation. Kruger expatiated on the terms of the manifesto issued by flesyn and Dewet.

"I have myself witnessed the bruining with which the British have waged war against us," he said. "They have acted like savages, and on their own confession have been assisted by avages whom they had armed. They have once more merited the reproach heaped upon their fathers by old Chatham at the time of the war of American independence. Our enemies have violated all the laws of war between differny without regard to the lives of non-combatants, and pillaged and burned private property. They have treated as rebels men who were known to be citizens of the beliggerent country. They have not even spared women and children, those sacred beings who are declared neutral and inviolate by all international codes. They have alavishly limitated the proceedings which excited universal indignation when practiced in Cuba by a Spanish general for which Spain was cruelly unished.

"Everything that has been said resecting the borrors of war as waged general for which Spain was cruelly punished.

"Everything that has been said respecting the horrors of war as wared by the English Isgions is far below the truth. I declare, and history will hear me out when it ceases to be raisified, that people will shudder when they hears the details of all the atrocities that we have suffered.

The South African war has been, on the part of the English, a perpetual defiance of the Geneva convention. To much greater extent than their retusal to accept intervention in their defiance of the Hague convention."

Referring to Gen. Dewet's raid into Cape Colony, Kruger denied that it was ever hoped to provoke a general rising.

"We knew perfectly well that this

"We knew perfectly well that this would be impossible because of the act of munitions and arms, as well as the difficulty of the combined action over such enormous distances. But the avasion demonstrated that the Afritanders were everywhere favorable to are cause and ready to afford help withman, their power.

ur cause and ready to short help at their power.

"Mr. Steyn and Gen. Dewet had: sowever, a different object in view and hey attained it. They were able to btain a plentiful supply of food and orse. Moreover, these brave allies perated a diversion which allowed sen. Botha to escape from a tight position in the east of the Transvasi. They suppelled the English to spread their rees over the enormous distances, and Kruger next dealt with the question of the lines where work is now said to have been resumed. He declared that so long as he was master in Pretoria the mines were safeguarded and work was continued.

"It is only since the British occupation that property has deteriorated and that all work has ceased. Everybody should know that as long as we could, we remained faithful guardians of this international trust, carrying our scrupels so far even as to respect the mines which are the cause of all our misfortunes."

which are the cause of all our misfortunes."
In conclusion, Kruger declared that, far from being exhausted, the Boer commandees were able to go on fighting indefinitely.
"We have combatiants, arms and ammunition in sufficient quantities. It is hopeless to reduce us to lassitude or extermination."
He ended by thanks to Providence for the manifold complications with which the British empire is now beset at other points of the globs, which will one day compel them to release their prey.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Navy Department this morning received the following cablegram from Admiral Remey at Cavite:
"Goodrell, at Olongapo, on the 4th, concluded the surrender of insurgents in country from Iba to Morong."

The territory referred to in Admiral Remey's dispatch is a stretch of land fifty miles along from Morong, just below Subig Bay, to Iba, a point nearly forty miles up the coast to Zambeles province, a portion of country which has caused no end of trouble to the American forces.

Gen. Greely said today that the Signal Corps had had at least a dozen sharp fights in this vicinity while endeavoring to maintain open telegraphic communication with Manila. The insurgents finally became so aggressive that Gen. Greely decided to have a cable laid from Olongapo, in Subig Bay, which is the site selected for the new naval station in the Philippines, to connect with Manila, on account of the difficulty in maintainning telegraphic communication overland. The laying of the cable is now in progress, Lieut, Goodrell. United States Marine Corps, has been in charge of the marines at Olongapo.

McBURNEY'S Kidney and Bladder Cure

Rheumatism is caused by the uric acid in the blood, and only by removing this poisonous acid can rheumatism and neuralgic troubles be cured. Uric acid finds its way into the blood because the kidneys are weakened and do not throw off from the system. Uric acid causes more sickness and suffering than any other form of poisoning. It irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable: causes rheumatism and neuralgia, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; makes your head ache and back ache: causes indigestion, stomach and liver trouble; you get a sallow, yellow complexion; makes you feel as though you had heart trouble; you lack ambition. Restore the kidneys and you will restore the power that will force the uric acid from the body. That is just what McBurney's Kidney and Bladder Cure does. The Czar's Government Will Restor Manchuria to the Chinese When Peace Shall Be Fully Restored and a Strong Central Government Established.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M. ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Official Messenger today publishes a review of the negotiations conducted by the allied powers with the Chinese plenipotentiaries at Tien-Tsin and Peking, and of the presentations to the presentations to the presentations. the negotiations that led to the presentation of the French draft of peac tation of the French draft of peace conditions, which consisted of twelve points, but which are not yet con-cluded. The Russian government then makes the following statement: "While anticipating an early settle-ment of the questions affecting the mu-tual relations between all the powers and China, the Russian government on the port considers it necessary to con-and China, the Russian government on its part considers it necessary to con-cern itself with the establishment of a permanent order of things in the Chi-nese territories along the oorders of which the Russian Asiatic possessions extend for a distance of 8000 versts (500 miles.) To this end provisional written conditions for a modus vivendi were agreed upon first between the Russian military authorities and the Chinese governors of three Manchurian prov-purpose and intentions of the Russan government.

"Falsified texts of a treaty establishing a protectorate over Manchuria were quoted, and erroneous reports were designedly spread of an alleged agreement between Russia and China. As a matter of fact, this agreement was to serve as a basis for the restoration to China as contemplated by the Russian government of the province of Manchuria, which, in consequence of the alarming events of last year, were occupied by Russian troops. In order that the requisite military measures might be taken, it was imperative that the question should be settled one way or the other. It was impossible to lay down forthwith by means of a mutual agreement the conditions of the evacuation of Manchuria.

"According to the news received, se-

"According to the news received, serious hindrances were placed in the way of the conclusion of such an agreement, and in consequence, its acceptance by China, which was indispensable for the gradual evacuation of the province, proved to be impossible.

"As regards the eventual restoration of the province to China, it is manifest that such intention can only be carried out, when the normal situation is completely restored to the empire, and the central government is established at the capital independent and strong enough to guarantee Russia against a recurrence of the events of last year."

significance of the reform movement by which the Russian plans in Manchuria have been upset at the moment when the Anglo-German agreement has been put to the test, and found inoperative as to the northern provinces.

The refusal of the Chinese government to sign the convention was nominally based on the resistance of the powers to the special privileges granted to Russia, but in reality Japan was the only government offering any menace of war, and Russia might have appeased it by concessions in Korea. China owes her deliverance from Russian control in Manchuria to the sudden access of spirit and patriotism in the Yang Tse viceroys. Whether the advantage will be temporary or permanent is an open question.

Count Von Waldersee seems to be having a very unpleasant time of it, if the latest dispatches are to be credited. The field marshal has, it is said, sent a very urgent telegram to the German Emperor, imploring him to hasten negotiations for withdrawal of the allied troops from China. On no fewer than seven occasions the Count had to settle differences similar to the Tien-Tsin affair, and he fears that unless the troops are quickly withdrawn, he will not be able to prevent trouble, QUIETLY WAITING.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Mail advices have been received at the State Department indited by Minister Conger before he left Peking on his home ward trip. These deal at some length with the negotiations between the ministers of the powers, but it is not deemed well to publish the details at this time. However, the salient feature of the correspondence is the disclosure of the difficulties that have been encountered by the ministers in the effort to find common ground for the arrangement of a scheme of in-were as many projects submitted as there were ministers in attendance at the meeting.

There is still no word from Mr.

cabled to London a protest against the proposal to pay the Chinese indemnity by an increase of the tariff.
The association claims that, although such an increase is possibly practicable, it should remain for future set-cable, it should remain for future set-tiement, as an increased tariff is cal-culated to deprive the commercial powers of means of redress for treaty grievances and is also detrimental to the expansion of trade. The association considers that the honest collection of the present native sources of revenue will adequately provide for the payment of the indem-nity.

Silent Sufferers

It is autonishing how many apparently healthy women there are who suffer in secret. Even their nearest friends do not know how little life means to them. If you are a silent sufferer Miss Johnson's testimonial should be full of encouragement for you. Her case ran along for years, before she took Wine of Cardui. But she soon secured relief from those terrible dragging pains which were saddening her life. Miss Davis waited ten years before taking you if you don't stop the trouble. Why do you suffer another day? Your pain is unnecessary. Delay invites dangerous complications which soon become incurable. Ask your druggist for a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and secure complete relief by taking it in the privacy of your own home.

(ENGLAND.) M ONROGISM DISTASTEFUL TO THE EUROPEANS

IS THOUGHT TO MENACE LEGITI-MATE DEVELOPMENT.

Englishmen Look Upon American Venezuelan Controversy With Interes and Amusement-Lord Salisbury Retirement Still Uncertain.

LONDON, April 5.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Saturday Review, still smarting under the sting of what it calls "Cleveland's insolent message," discusses the American-Venezuelan relations and says:

relations and says:

"We have little sympathy for the Venezuelan government, but have the deepst sympathy with any attempt to arrest the wholesale application of Mooroeism that is practiced in the United States. It menaces the legitimate development of European countries and we have reason to know it excites the gravest apprehension in governing circles in Germany. In any case, the irony of the political Nemesis was rarely more delightfully apparent than under the present condition of affairs, and we await developments with no less amusement than interest."

MINISTRY PROBLEMS.

MINISTRY PROBLEMS. MINISTRY PROBLEMS.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

NEW YORK, April 5.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says the uncertainty over Lord Salisbury's continuance in public life is not yet dispelled. Chamberlain's friends assert that he is unwilling to lead the Commons until the war has ended, and that he does not care to assume responsibility for Sir Michael HicksBeach's methods of finance, as he would be forced to do if Balfour were elevated to the premiership.

The relations between Chamberlain and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach have never been cordial, and neither is in sympathy with the opinions of the other. The divergence of views have been sharp recently respecting the sugar duties and other features of the coming budget, if current reports can be depended upon. The antagonism between these two ministers is an important element in the problem of reconstruction of the ministry.

J. H. MASTERS, 136 South Cale mainly to an extra allowance for the Queen and enlarged grants for the expenses of the royal household.

Business arrangements have bee well managed by the court since prophasibeen offered that the expenses of the royal household have outrun the allowance during the last thirteevers.

The new English Art Club has a fresh and unconventional exhibit of pictures in the Dudley gallery.

Charles Furs, David Muirhead and Wilson Steer have portraits strong it realism and novel in decorative effect and Francis Dodd, a faithful likeness of W. F. Henley. The exhibition is good proof that there are artists outside of the academy capable of thinking for themselves.

REMEDY FOR TRUSTS. [BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
LONDON, April 6.—The Daily Mail, in the course of an extended article, on the American steel trust, says it can see no escape for the United States from the oppression of trusts except in free trade, and declares that J. Pierpont Morgan has appropriated 3200,000,000 to crush American independent concerns.

EARLY GROWTH OF THE POSTAL SERVICE.

When Mr. Osgood was appointed Postmaster-General, there were sev-enty-five postoffices in the United States and less than two thousand enty-five postoffices in the United States and less than two thousand miles of post roads. He served two years, and enlarged the service three-fold, yet turned into the general treasury a net revenue of about 15 per cent. of the gross postal receipts. The first Postmaster-General to hold a seat in the President's Cabinet was William T. Barry of Kentucky. He has the distinction of being not only the first Postmaster-General to sit as a Cabinet officer, but also the first whose administration of the office shows a deficit, the expenditures having exceeded the receipts. He became Postmaster-General in 1829, served six years, and during that time ran the department over $500,000 in debt. This caused a great scandal, and resulted in the appointment of Amos Kendall as his successor. Every one of Barry's predecessors had administered the department so as to make it yield a net revenue to the government. Nor was this economy of administration at the expense of an efficient service. From 1790 to 1829 the number of offices had increased from seventy-five to $004, the aggregate length of post routes from 1875 miles to 115,000 miles and the gross expenditures from $32,000 to $1, 782,000 a year.

WHAT THE GOVERNMINT DOES FOR THE PLOPLE.

VIII.—THE FOSTAL SERVICE.

If the rais of 150 miles a day, a produce of the demonstrated condition of the control of the control of the demonstrated condition of the control of the demonstrated condition of the demonstrated condition of the control of the demonstrated condition of the control of the demonstrated condition of the demonstr atic postal service was by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, in 1693. A postmaster was appointed for the city of Philadelphia. He was authorized to appoint deouties, who were to serve as postmasters at other places throughout the colony and to dispatch letters to any place in New England or the adjacent colonies. He was also required to handle all letters relating to the public service free; and all public ferries, bridges, etc., were subject to his use without delay or charge. His compensation was limited to £20 per year. A fixed rate of postage was prescribed. In the preamble of this enactment the General Assembly declares its purpose to be "to the end that mutual correspondence may be maintained and that letters may speedily and safely be dispatched from place to piace."

In these enactments of our forefathers can be traced the principles upon which our postal service has been organized. In the Boston order the postmaster was held responsible for any damage that might occur to the malis in his possession, as postal employés are today. In the Virginia provisions the registry system is recognized, and in the Pennsylvania enactment we notice many of the principles of our present organization. From this primitive beginning has grown the American postal service.

sistant, provided "he made that much." He served nineteen years, and was dismissed in 1774 because of his devotion to the colonies in their struggle against English tyranny. The first four years that he served, there was a deficiency, and he did not receive his full salary; but at the time he was dismissed the postal service of the colonies was yielding the crown a handsome income. During the days of the confederation the mail service was in a chaotic and disorganized condition. The organization of our present system really dates from the appointment of Samuel Osgood by President Washington on September 26, 1789. The Postmaster-General was not then a member of the President's Cabinet. At that time the mail service throughout the country was wretchedly inefficient. The mail was transported wholly upon horseback. In those days the carrier, usually an old man, jogged leisurely along on a decrepit horse over unkept roads, with his letters deposited in a pair of saddlebags, while he passed away the time knitting from homespun yarn his supply of winter socks.

ENORMOUS GROWTH OF THE BERVICE.

In 1790, when Mr. Osgood organized the system, there were seventy-five postoffices. On' January 1. 1901, there were 76,594. The gross receipts of the postal service in 1790 were 337,935; in 1990 they were 3102,364,579. The gross expenditures in 1790 were 327,140; in 1900 they were 3102,264,579. The gross expenditures in 1790 were 322,140; in 1900 there were 500,590 miles.

Today the American citizen can attach a 2-cent stamp to a letter weighing one ounce or less, directed to any part of our vast possessions, which now reach more than half way around the globe, and, if properly addressed, the chances are 331,000 to 1 that it will be safely delivered; and if loss should occur the United States government will expend hundreds of dollars in endeavoring to fix the responsibility for such loss. Should it appear that the loss was occasioned by the negligence or criminality of an employé, he is not only required to make good the damage to the sender, but to answer before the courts of his country for the violation of its postal laws.

A BENEFIT TO ALL THE PEOPLE.

A BENEFIT TO ALL THE PEOPLE.

The postal service touches every elsment of society. There is no rural community too obscure for the postoffice to reach. A representative of this department daily knocks at ... a door of every citizen of our great cities. Upon the most obscure streets or the remotest highways—everywhere—may be seen a representative of the United States mail service.

Studying the American postal service in all of its phases, the vast amount of business transacted, the enormous number of persons employed, aggregating over 200,000, the rapidity with

THE FUTURE OF COPPER.

A Michigan correspondent of the United States Investor sends to that ournal some astounding figures rearding the future of copper. His figres are said to be based methodically on the ratio in which the consumption century, the product of the year 1900 eing estimated. He gives the copper production of the world, by decade during the past century as follows:

Ending 1810 .... 91,000 Ending 1820 .... 96,000 Ending 1830 .... 136,000 Ending 1840 218,400 218,400 281,000 505,929 900,000 ***** ***** ..... Ending 1880 .... 1,189,400 Ending 1890 .... 2,215,900 Ending 1900 .... 3,619,905 ments made in the article are start-ling. If these statements are not The average decennial increase in the copper production of the world has been 52 per cent. for the nineteenth ter which the State of New Jersey has granted to this colossal industrial century. For the last half of the century the increase has averaged 67 per cent. For the past thirty years it has trust to do anything and everything it averaged 60 per cent. Following the trend of the figures of actual increase pleases. Under this charter the trust for the century now closing, he has prepared a set of tables for the twentieth century, from which he draws the conclusion that the world's annual-not decennial-output of copper for the decade ended 2000 A.D. will abling it not only to manufacture its products in its own ships and on its

THE SITUATION IN THE FAR EAST.

The man who would venture prophesy on the coming events in the Far East has a hard road to travel. It seems as if everything about the af-fair delights in being twisted and tangled until he is a wise man indeed who can see his way out from this latter-day puzzle.

"China has notified Russia of her refusal to sign treaty;" "China is doomed to lose Manchuria;" "China is to be backed by Japan;" "Russia's conquest of Manchuria is assured;" "Russia disclaims all intentions of permanently occupying Manchuria." Thus the political sages feed the anxious and interested public on statements widely occupying Manchuria." Thus the political sages feed the anxious and interested public on statements widely different one from another, repudiating today what they laid down as gospel truth yesterday. The truth of the matter is, that with a country like Russia for the central figure in the tournament, nothing reliable can be had to base opinions upon or to draw conclusions from. The Russian press, unlike that of other countries, is a pitiful farce as far as winning public opinion or voicing the government is concerned. Whatever the Russian ministers decide or do, the world learns only after the fact has been accomplished and the deed done; or, if, as in this case, the Bear finds his way blocked, the parties that do the blocking are more apt to speak of it than the Czar's government.

Thus the main source of information for the outside world is, in Russia, a dry well. Even the Associated Press, with its excellent service, reaching into the wilds of Africa, is powerless in the land of the Czar, since all dispatches, unless they come from the embassy of a powerful nation, are carefully looked into, edited and censored.

An extensive acquaintance, however, sored.

An extensive acquaintance, however, with the customs and traditions of the country, as well as a knowledge of its history, will enable one, by perusing even the meager information found in the Pussian. for the decade ended 2000 A.D. will be as follows, according to whether the increase is reckoned at 25 per cent. 50 per cent.

Rates of increase. Tons per year.

At 25 per cent. 20,874,673 kt 50 per cent. 20,874,673 kt 50 per cent. 3,371,378 kt 50 per cent. 39,802,319 An output of nearly 40,000,000 tons in the year 2000, at the present value of copper, would be worth the tidy sum of $13,267,439,000. But then, possibly by that time the amount named would only be considered as a fair annual income for the multi-billionaires of A. D. 2000.

There is one fact however which a sum of the chinese question, especially upon the chinese question, especially upon the chinese question, especially upon the incident now presumably closed, which at one time threatened to loosen the dogs of war-and plunge England into war with Russia. The Russian papers to read between the lines and complete what the censor's had a complete what the censor's had the send of the significant affair silven the meager information for the lines a

There is one fact, however, which this writer has apparently overlooked, that may to some extent interfere with the consumption which he has worked out with such Sellers-like precision. The increase in the consumption of copper of late has been chiefly caused by the great demand for copper wire, to be used by telegraph and telephone companies. Now, it has been found that aluminum can be used for this purpose in place of copper, and it is so used to some extent in the United States today. With the steady and rapid decrease in the price of aluminum, the inducements to substitute aluminum for copper in electrical work will be greater, and we may expect to see its use greatly extended, in which case the demand for copper will be lessened, or at least will not increase with anything like the rapidity above suggested.

However, there is no immediate dandard and activation on the Yang-tee-Kiang, in China. While in diplomatic parlance to the control Asian the most unexpected moment. One has apparently overlooked, that may the most unexpected moment. The division of spoils in China has in its grave possibilities, and may yet lead to very serious international complications. As mentioned in former articles in this paper last week, if the British have lost their influence in Asia, they must look for the blame at their own door. Russia, compelled by the very nature of things, which he very nature of things, which were not a fair their own door. Russia, compelled by the very nature of things, which is purely makes it necessary for her to get more eibow room, no sooner ended in startling the world by her tremendous enterprise. known as the Trans-Siberian Railroad, than she quietly, without the blowing of political horns, launched upon another no less gigantle and a good deal more important from a military standpoint. Already in possession of an extensive railroad line from Moseow to Viadvostok and Port Arthur, on the Pacific—a line of finance of the proportion of the proportion of the proportion of the proportion of the prop extension and development of another road already in existence (namely, the Central Asian Railway, which is purely a military line.) into a longer trunk aystem, to parallel the Siberian road, so that it may have the same relations with the latter as the Central, Southern and Northern Pacific in this country, the magnitude of this new undertaking ought not to be underestimated. This new road, when completed, will not only traverse Siberia, with her fabulous agricultural districts, but will drain a country no less rich in natural drain a country no less rich in natural ulous agricultural districts, but will drain a country no less rich in natural resources. For the last 3000 years carvans have been the only medium of transport for all imports and exports. These caravan routes encircle the remains and ruins of once wealthy centers of Asiatic population, cities of the population of t mains and term of Asiatic population, cities of large areas now half buried in the sand, forest-beited stretches of rich land and mountains full of ores, the abundance of which, while never proposite investigated, has never been large areas now hair buried in the sand, forest-belted stretches of rich land and mountains full of ores, the abundance of which, while never properly investigated, has never been doubted. This new railroad line, of about twenty-two hundred miles in length, if the present plans do not miscarry, will pass through and bring the government into actual contact with every variety of soil and climate. At present Andijan is the terminal soint of the Central Asian Railway in the East. The first division will project a hundred leagues or so to Kashgar, the capital of Chinese Turkestan. Here the construction will necessitate a good deal of complicated engineering. The country is mountainous, and tunnels—two at least—will have to be built. Thence the line will make a curve and turn south to enter Thibet, and perhaps connect with the sacred city of the grand Lama, Bhotan, and northeast to the main waters of the Hoang Ho, reaching the important city of Suyan-va, the present seat and ancient capital of the Celestial Empire. This road, when completed, will give Russia an absolute millitary control in China and Manchuria, just as she enjoys the same in Siberia. It is this fact, which the English diplomats cannot help knowing, that has put England in rather had humor, as manifested in almost an outbreak of hostilities over an inoffensive railroad siding.

To this enterprise Russia added a new feature, in extending her banking laws over the greater part of this country; and in spite of all the Furbsh may do, at the end of their line at Hankow, Russian commercial supremacy will become a fact as soon as her present plans are realized.

Taken all in all, what, with entriguing in Korea, discharging English custom managers by way of diversion, pressing the knife to the throat of the Chinese dragon, blocking England's way in Afghanistan by backing England's way in Afghanistan by backing the Ameer of that country in his opposition to British syndicates, Russia's statesmen have a lively time when they are not dodging bullets at their ow

Two of the great problems of art—or mather, two sides of one great problem—were treated, yesterday, at the Friday Morning Club by Mrs. W. D. Babcock and W. L. Judson. Mrs. Babcock read a paper on "The Spiritual Interpretation of Art." She traced the influence of the spiritual side of human nature on art from ancient times up to the present day—the influence of sun-worship on Egyptian architecture and art symbolism of Greece, of Rome, and even of more modern Christian Europe; the influence of Greek mythelogy from its allegorical and spiritual side, sind, lastly, the influence of the Christian religion. In the art of every time, she said, that which is greatest has been something more than a mere reproduction of output of the proposed Sait Laks, which they have named Lincoln City. It is the first town to start on the strength of the proposed Sait Laks, which they have named Lincoln City. Portrait painting is often unsatisfactory, because, although exact in detail, it fails to reveal the inner, the spiritual side of the subject—which, after all, is the true man.

to reveal the inner, the spiritual side of the subject—which, after all, is the frue man.

Mr. Judson, who had been asked to spak upon "The Commercial Side of Art," confessed himself somewhat at a loss what to say upon this subject, as he had had little experience at from the purely business point of view. He began with a description of the young artist endeavoring to obtain a financial footing, and quoted Turner, who, when asked what the lardest thing about painting a picture was, replied, "To sell it."

"The young artist who wishes to find a market for his productions," he said, "Is generally told on the restern coast that he must go farther sat to offer his wares. In St. Louis he is told again that New York he is insurance, and in the country—that he must go to Europe in order to find at the artists there are all trying sell their work to the wealthy throms of art, from this country, hen, if he throws himself into his rich he will find that art, like every ther profession, has its rewards the surance of the profession, has its rewards the profession, has its rewards the profession of the profession

Much Booty.

The residence of D. G. Stewart, No. 428 West Sixth street, was entered by burglars some time before daylight yesterday and a thorough search was made for valuables. The thieves got in by cutting the acreen door to a rear porch and then picking the lock. No one in the house heard them at work, and it was not until yesterday morning that the fact that there had been a burglary was discovered. That there was more than one of the thieves is known by the fact that the goods stolen could not have been conveniently carried off by one man. The thieves secured a fine clock, on which was mounted a bronze figure of a horse and rider, four expensive portiere curtains, and two cheaper ones, fourteen lace curtains, and two large and valuable vases. A number of articles were piled on the floor, but were not taken, and it is therefore believed that the thieves were frightened away before completing their work.

The Eleventh-street franchise, as petitioned for, will run from Hoover to Flower streets, along Eleventh, Sentous and Figuerca street.

The board also recommended that the petition of the Los Angeles Railway Company for the sale of a franchise along Jefferson street from Wesley avenue to the west city boundary, be granted. This franchise was once before sought by the same company without success.

granted. This franchise was once before sought by the same company without success.

The petition of C. A. Sumner, asking that the Courcil advertise for sale a franchise for a double-track electric rallways on Adams street from Western avenue to the city limits, will be reported favorably to the Council on Monday. It is understood by the board that Mr. Sumner in reality represents the Traction Railway Company, and that if the franchise is advertised that company will bid it in.

Mr. Sumner stated yesterday that he is acting as agent for the owners of Kinney Heights, on West Adams street.
A tract containing 240 lots has been laid out at some expense, and in order to sell them it is regarded as essential that a western extension of one of the street lines be secured. An extension of the Washington-street line of the Los Angeles Railway Company is in contemplation, and the franchise application for a street railway on West Jefferson street is now pending. Both these extensions, it is believed, will be of great value to the property along the west boundary line.

Mr. Sumner says that the cost of the half mile of road on West Adams street will be about $6000, and that, if built by private parties, traffic relations will be established with one of the main systems.

The petition of E. P. Johnson, Jr.,

tions will be established with one of the main systems.

The petition of E. P. Johnson, Jr., for the sale of two franchises to lay pipes for oil were favorably acted on by the board. One of the contemplated pipe lines runs from the intersection of Sixth street with the west boundary line of the city along Sixth, Hoover and Seventh streets, to where the tracks formerly owned by the Loss Angeles Terminal Railway crosses Seventh street. The other contemplated pipe line runs from the intersection of the east boundary line with Stephenson avenue, along Stephenson, Boyle avenue and Seventh street, to Alameda street.

J. W. Eddy, who wants to build a passenger elevator up the Third-street hill, appeared before the board and submitted an ordinance in accordance with which he desires the Council to advertise the franchise. The board took the ordinance under advisement, but granted the petition.

(Commerce to the North Broadway Interests, offering the Chamber of Commerce Building:) You can have it for $30,000.

(South Broadway Interests:) Here, I'll take it for twice that amount, if necessary.

Business men who are working to give the Chamber of Commerce new quarters in a building of its own, on Broadway between First and Second streets, are not satisfied with the success attending their efforts to raise a bonus of $30,000. Only two-thirds of this amount has been pledged. The whole amount should have been subsetibled by this time, and unless it is soon forthcoming the building will go south.

There are some persons, evidently, who seem to fail to appreciate what the moving of the Chamber of Commerce will do for their property interests in this section of the Chamber of Commerce in the vicinity of the proposed building. The location of the Chamber of Commerce on the proposed property is bound to stimulate values in the vicinity, and will eventually appreciate those south of First street."

In late wears there has been a gen-

In late years there has been a general tendency toward lower values, north of First street. Business men generally agree that the erection of better buildings between First and Second streets will cheek this decrease, if it does not enhance values.

The building to be erected by the crease, if it does not enhance values. The building to be erected by the Chamber of Commerce will be only an initial movement on the part of that organization toward beautifying this part of Broadway with handsome structures, which will attract tenants.

The example set by the chamber, it is thought, will stimulate other property owners to improve their holdings. While there has been no decrease in property values between First and Second streets on any of the business thoroughfares, the owners of reality there have failed to seize opportunities which have been presented to for the change in location of the chamber.

On the other hand, the benefit reaped by holders of realty in this section, will not work a hardship nor a disadvantage upon those of any other locality. Owners of real estate in this section of the city can well afford to make liberal donations to the chamber for the proposed building. If the value of a $50.000 property should be raised 10 per cent, that would be a gain of $5000. To give a tenth part of that sum to the chamber "Commerce would be a good investment for the owner of such a property.

Wineries are given a new section in the proposed ordinance as follows: "For the purposes of the ordinance a winery is defined to be a place for the manufacture and sale of viticultural productions in quantities not less than from grapes grown in this State, when sold by the manufacturer on the premises where manufactured, and not per-

The matter has been under consideration for several days past. In the main, however, but few alterations will be made in the old ordinance in force for the past year, although there is a tendency to increase the license tax.

The biggest rise in the new ordinance will be found in the retail liquor license. This tax hereafter is to be $15 a month. It is increased from $8. Not long ago it was $13, but was subsequently reduced $5. If there be 100 as alloons outside the city of Los Angelesand the number is little, if any, less—the county revenue per month from the liquor traffic will amount to $1500, but the 200 saloons of the city must also pay $15 a month county tax, or $3000 to $25 per day; circuses and menageries are to be increased from $30 to $25 per day; circuses from $25 to $30 per day; circuses and menageries, traveling together, $50 to $100 per day, and sideshows from $5 to $5 a month, and the control of the county tax or $300 to $25 per day; circuses and menageries, traveling together, $50 to $100 per day, and sideshows from $5 to $5 a month, and the control of the Soldiers and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $5 to $5 a month, and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $5 to $5 a month, and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $5 to $5 a month, and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $5 to $5 a month, and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $5 to $5 a month, and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $5 to $5 a month, and traveling merchants.

$100 per day, and sideshows from $5 to $10 a day.

Hawkers, peddlers and traveling merchants, using wagons, are increased from $1 to $5 a month, and tamale, candy and peanut wagons are hereafter to be taxed $1 a month. Commercial travelers are excepted.

Shooting galleries, muscle and lung testers, ring throwing, etc., must pay $5 a month or fraction thereof.

Pawnbrokers are increased from $25 to $30 a month.

Telephone companies operating exchanges must pay $6 cents a month for each 100 'phones; provided, that companies operating less than fifty shall pay no license. Under the new ordinance the tax of the Sunset Telegraph and Telephone Company, is increased from $30 a month to $45 or $50.

Phonograph pariors are increased from 50 cents a month to $5 a quarter. It is estimated that the new ordinance will increase the county's revenue per month in the sum of about $2500.

IUDICIAL HUMOR. JUDGE SHAW'S QUEER ORDER.

It was Judge Shaw's day to be humorous again.

On March 27, 1896, John Gomes died at the Soldiers' Home, leaving an estate valued at $15, consisting of one shoigun. In March, 1900, J. V. Dilley of Norwalk was appointed administrator of the Gomes estate, and yesterday it appeared to the court that Dilley's duties were done. This is the way Judge Shaw frames his judicial order: "It is further ordered that said administrator be and he is hereby discharged from further duties or liabilities herein and it is advised that his gun also be discharged." It is Dilley who inherits the gun.

WOODD THE SENORITA UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Van Sanders, the Boy Street Hawker, Was Given a Floater to Leave Town

"Saving at the Spigot Wasting at the Bung"

Justice Morgan fined him $10.

Objected to Overalls.

Van Sanders left his happy home because his tepfather incased his esthetic legs in vulgar overals. Yesterday he went to pail in raiment as gorgeous as a tiger illy.

Sanders is the boy with the flowing locks who has been selling "Mexican beans," whose peculiarity is that they exhale a barber-shop perfume—after Mr. Sanders rubs it on with a stick. He became too eloquent the other day, and was arrested under the ordinance which prohibits peddiers from hawking their wares on the streets.

He came into the presence of Justice Morgan dressed like a vaquero in a comic opera. If a vaquero ventured out on the range in such a rig they would hang him to a weeping willow tree. He had soft doeskin trousers, belled and alashed with red, and beaded, and heaven knows what all, and a bolero jacket of the same material. Around his middle was a fiaming scarlet sash, and on his head a great sombrero. Long locks scraggled down over a face of womanish beauty. The boy is said to have been telling around town a cock and bull story about his being a Chippewa Indian of distinguished lineage, but he didn't spring any such yarn on the court. He said that he came from Seattle and left home because his father made him work for a dollar a day and wear overalls.

He is seventeen, and has been making his own way for three years.

Justice Morgan gave him a "floater."

Here are a few of the slight incidents which in one evening interrupted the course of true love for Henry Marsh:

The Señorita Yorba, for whom he went a woolng, shut the door in his face, and would not let him in.

The landlord of the Señorita Yorba threw him down stairs and then cracked his head with a cuspidore.

He appealed to a policeman for help and the policeman sent him to juil.

Señorita Yorba lives at No. 133 North Main street, which is a lodging-house.

Marsh got an idea that she had in vited him to come up to see her. He had a jag keeping close company with him, and apparently judged that it would be welcome, too. He went in rather late in the evening, and knocked at the door of Señorita Yorba, but she would not hear his call.

He went away in a state of indignation and came back with a better and larger jag.

This time he went up to the door of the señorita and knocked thereupon in a bold and hilarious manner.

No reply.

"I'll mash the door in if you don't let me in," he finally said, persuassively.

Just then Seth Tobe, the landlord of the senority and knocked thereupon in a bold and hilarious manner.

IN OIL TRANSPORTATION BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. Southern Pacific and the Santa Fé have declared their intention to fight the suit before the Railroad Commission for a reduction in oil rates from Bakersfield. While the railroads have not the oil companies, it is announced that they will defend the action by attempting to show that the present rate of I cent a gallon from Bakersfield to San Francisco, or 42 cents a barrel, is extremely reasonable. This rate amounts to 863 and 856 a car, exclusive of the switching charges, and the traffic officials of the two lines deciare that this rate, considering the fact that the care can be used for no other purpose and have to be hauled one way empty, is one of the lowest rates in California for the same amount of service.

every desirable section was covered by scrip.

On the capacity of the wells in the McKittrick and Temblor fields the San Francisco Chronicle says that at the present time with steady pumping, it is now over 2500 barrels per day. The oil stracted is easily handled by gravity, and the bulk of it is sold to the Standard Oil Company, which has erected three tanks of $5,000 barrels capacity each. The proximity of the railroad gives McKittrick all the advantages enjoyed by Kern River field, but the scarcity of water is a factor yet to be settled. Immediately to the southward of McKittrick on the supposed oil line, water instead of oil has been eiruck.

But this difficulty is a temporary one, and, with the opening of more wells and the growth of the field, it will almost solve itself. The richness of the McKittrick field cannot be disputed, and its extent can only be surmised at present. If it be a part of a great oil line, extending from Sunset on the southeast to Coalinga on the northwest, as seems almost indisputable, it bids fair to become one of a chain of oil fields that will astonish the country with their total output as soon as the region has been properly developed.

be expected, no oil has been found as yet.

On section 29, 28, 28, the Perscus Oil Company will soon be at work. This company has a large tract of land and expects to strike it rich.

If it is lucky, the Superior Extension will probably case off the water in its well and go down to the oil that is thought to underlie the water. The contract calls for 1000 feet.

The Giant company is about to add another producer to its list. This hole when completed will be No. 7.

It is reported that the Western Development is in oil on section 19, 30, 22. The well, according to last reports, is down 825 feet.

The Manarch of California is about ready to begin spudding in on section 14, 30, 22.

This horrible disease appears first in the form of a little wore or bilster; some the glands begin to swell, pimples break out on the body, the mouth and threat become sore, making it painful to est or swallow; dreadful ulcers appear on the tongue, copper colored splotches and other characteristic signs of Hood Poison come as the disease progresses, and the destructive virus takes deeper held upon the system. The medical men are as sorely perplexed over the character of this blood poison as ever; they tell you to take mercury and potash alternately for three years, but the stomach of no human being can stand this treatment long; besides, they do not cure the disease permanently, as thousands who have tried it know.

Enocked Off a Ladder.

J. C. Ellis thought he knew enough cabout electricity to replace a fuse which had burned out at his home on West Twenty-eighth atreet He imbunted a stepladder and began trying to take the cap off the fuse-block. He removed it all right, and then blaced his hand on the two poies at ther side of the rosette fastened to be ceiling. Of course, he received a lock, and the effect of it was to lock him off the ladder. In falling sustained a fracture of the right a near the wrist.

Making Up the Pay Roll.

Making Up the Pay Roll.

The principals of the public schools yesterday sent in their reports for the school month to the Board of Education, giving the number of days served by each teacher, and Secretary Averill is busily engaged in making up the pay roll. When completed it will mean the disbursement of between $39,000 and $40,000 to about $25 teachers for the month's work: Beside the regular teachers there is quite a corps of substitutes, most of whom have put in at least a portion of the month. The provision for substitutes is a very important branch of the service. Every morning at $0'clock a dozen or more of these teachers, who are regularly elected as substitutes by the board, but who for employment are dependent upon the little uncertainties that surround the lives of teachers as of other people, report at the secretary's office and remain there until 9:30. "But Peter arcse, and ran unto the tomb; and stooping and looking in, he seeth the linen cloths by themselves; and he departed to his home, wondering at the linen cloths by themselves; and he departed to his home, wondering at that which was come to pass." Peter did not wholly disbelieve, then. We rather think that Mary Magdalene had outrun the others and told Peter and John that some of the women remained at the tomb. He was prompted by the desire to see Jesus and express his sorrow. The last look he had at Jesus was at the trial and that reproaching look broke his heart. The hope of confessing and making some amends now made him hasten. John went with him, as we learn from John himself, and being the younger outran him. But Peter, in deeper and more convulsive feelings, and with less of delicacy in his reverence, rushed into the tomb itself. Though fired by a new hope, he had the cloud of heavy sin hanging over ebon sky and he came lowly, through convulsively, into the light. He was still in the stage of wonder when he returned from the empty sepulchre, but hope was brighter, for the sight of the tomb itself had made his hope a little brighter. A blessed private interview with Jesus Himself is awaiting Peter.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY. WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The resurrection of Jesus is the best attested fact of history.—[Lyman Abbott.

The resurrection is not an isolated event in history, but at once the end and beginning of vast developments of life and thought; the climax of a long series of divine dispensations which find in it their complement and explanation; it has formed the starting point of all progressive modern society, ever presented itself in new lights according to the immediate wants of the age. Taking all the evidence together, it is not too much to say that there is no single historic incident better or more variously supported than the resurrection of Christ.—[Westcott.] It is the rehearsal of that marvelous tale that has kept heart in the breast of this straggling and discouraged old world. Let that story go untold for a century, and suicide would be the most common form of death. Do not be deceived. There is no other hope for humannity but in its truth. Life it too sad, it is too mysterious, it is too impossible, to be interpreted by any other explanation.—[Goss.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

omments on the Uniform Prayer-meet-ing Topics of the Christian Endeavor Society, the Epworth League, the Baptist Young People's Union, etc. By William T. Ettis.

Topic for April 7: "Dead to Sin, Alive to Christ." Eph. ii, 1-10. Notwithstanding evidence to the contrary all about us, Easter is not the celebration of a general millinery opening. The day is more than an occasion for the display of new clothes. Far back of all these outward appearances stands the greatest truth of life—the truth of the resurrection. New attire, new songs, new gladness.

Sin is in us; that is our sorrow; but sin is not over us; that is our joy.

should live for Christ.

The new life is an enlarging life. It widens as we advance. Each day's growth reveals new greatness in it. No man has ever yet reached its limits. There are possible heights of loviness and usefulness which surpass our hopes or dreams. There are depths of communion and peace which exceed our knowledge. The greatness of the new life in Christ is inconceivable, though not unsatianable. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him." This is true of the Christian's life on earth as well as of his inheritance in heaven.

Cost of Moving, Small.

Much interest is felt among the wholesale and retail produce people as to where the public market is to go. The general opinion is that one of two localities will win the prise.

One is the northwest corner of San Pedro and Third streets, now occupied by the feed mill of Senator Smith and the Central Warehouse. There is a spur track already on the premises and the warehouse would be a convenience to run perishable stuff in there during bad weather.

The other place is the southeast corner of Central avenue and Third street, now occupied by the Los Angeles Hay and Storage Company. This is close to Alameda street and all the land between is owned by J. W. Wolfskill, who probably would be giad to permit spur tracks to be run in there in order to

That's a Spring Condition.

It's a sign that the blood is deficient in vitality, just as pimples and other eruptions are signs that the blood is impure. It's a warning, too, which only the hazardous fail to heed.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA removes it, gives new life, new courage, strength and animation.

It cleanses the blood and clears the complexion.

Accept no substitute.

"We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family for a number of years and find it the best spring medi-cine and a remedy for that tired feeting. Also as a blood purifier and tonic it has no equal. We take no other but Hood's, which soon sakes away those disa-greeable symptoms." Mrs. A. Winkler, Red Bluff, Cal.

"I suffered from impure blood and had a tired feel-ing. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and white taking the second bottle I began to feel a great deal better. I believe it has done for me what no other medicine could have done." Agnes Gilligan, 765 Lydis

In some instances an indelible pencil was used and drops of beer or other liquid refreshments which came in contact with the writing caused the purple pigment to spread out over the paper and blur the names, so that they are almost indistinguishable.

Every saloonkeeper in the city was furnished with a copy of the petition when the campaign for signatures was begun, and practically every patron of a saloon within the last few months was asked to sign. Ordinance Makes it the Duty of the City Trustees to at Once Revoke the License of the Big Hostelry-Some Applicable Resolutions.

At the time of the filing of the commeal accompaniment.

At the time of the filing of the complaint it was openly stated that members of the Board of City Trustees had told the manager of the hotel that he could run the bar.

Section 4 of the ordinance provides for the granting of licenses and says: "And upon conviction of any person for violating this ordinance the board shall revoke said license at once." The board is to have a meeting Monday.

At a meeting of the Board of City Trustees held on April 25 last, the following was adopted:

"Whereas, the Board of Trustees have in pursuance to the vote of the people of the town of Santa Monica passed an ordinance restricting the sale of intoxicating liquors within the town; now therefore be it

"Resolved. That this board expects and insists that all officers of the town require a strict compliance with said ordinance, as well as all ether ordinance to be prosecuted. We also expect and require that all persons found intoxicated on the streets of the town he prosecuted irrespective of their personality."

The personnel of the board was then the same as now, except that Mr. Folsom is sitting in place of Mr. Roth, who resigned. The resolution was supported by all of the members except Morgan, who opposed it on the ground that it is impertinent for the board to instruct the city officers to do their duty.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. NEW BUSINESS ERA BEGINS.

SANTA BARBARA, April 5.—{Reg-ular Correspondence.] The vibrating life of new business is already feit in this city since the commencement of ber of queries regarding all phases of life in Santa Barbara. There are all iffe in Santa Barbara. There are all sorts of rumors in the air of schemes for public improvement and private investment. Santa Barbara's need for a new hotel has long been recognized, and men of foresight have undertaken to supply the need. Less than a year ago Los Angeles capital was interested ago Los Angeles capital was interested in a project to erect a $100,000 hotel on Burton Mound in this city, and steps were taken to secure assurance that the streets crossing the tract, but never opened, would be permanently closed. Before the ordinance authorizing the closing of the streets was finally settled, the capital interested had been invested elsewhere. E. R. Spaulding bought the tract with the idea of making another attempt during the present year.

Another idea which is favorably looked upon by many is that advocated by E. W. Hadley to build a large hotel on the hill adjoining the Old Mission, and extend a belt line of the electric road past it. The building would be placed in a commanding position, unexcelled for expanse of view and pleasant surroundings.

excelled for expanse of view and pleasant surroundings.

It is announced in railroad circles that this city will be made a central station as well as freight division station. It was formerly the intention of the company to make San Luis Obispo a central station, but this has been found impracticable after only a few days' trial. The next thing is to equip this place as rapidly as possible. Work on a fourteen or sixteen-stall roundhouse will be commenced in a few days.

WILL BUILD CARS. The United Electric Gas and Power Company, which owns the street-railway system here, has now under construction an extensive machine shop, and within a year will build its own cars, both passenger and freight. ANAHEIM. SANTA MONICA, April 5.—[Regular Correspondence.] The cases of violation of the city liquor ordinance at the Arcadia Hotel last February, which were continued from time to time until today, did not come to trial. Pleas of guilty were submitted instead. The City Recorder imposed on W. E. Zander, the manager of the big hostelry, a fine of $10, and on A. A. Cushman, his bartender, a fine of $5.

That closes the case as far as the City Recorder's court is concerned, but the City Trustes have resting upon them a self-imposed obligation in connection with the admitted violation of the ordinance.

The ordinance makes it lawful to serve liquor at the Arcadia Hotel, under the license issued for that establishment, only "with and as a part of a regular hot meal costing not less than 35 cents, exclusive of said vinous or mait liquors, and served at a table in a dining-room in which there is no bar." TROPICO. April 5.—[Regular Correspondence.] The Tropico public schools observed Arbor Day in a way that was enjoyed by participants and witnesses. The long row of tables, loaded with good things, and over a hundred happy children lined up for lunch, formed a pretty sight under the trees. The tree-planting exercises were gone through with by the "shovel brigade." The boys had been well drilled, and their evolutions elicited hearty applause. The graduating class planted a tree, and many plants and vines were applause. The graduating class planted a tree, and many plants and vines were distributed over the grounds. In the schoolhouse a programme of recitations and music, and addresses by County Superintendent Strine and Rev. Will A. Knighten were given. The rooms were profusely decorated with flowers, and in rendering one of their songs the girls swung beautiful wreaths.

Atty.-Gen. Ford declares a county ordinance, under which individuals selling ilguor without a county license have been prosecuted, to be unconstitutional. Several years ago the Supervisors passed an ordinance, fixing the liquor license in the county and providing for the punishment of offenders. But it was specified that half of the fine fixed by the court should be paid to the informer. The late grand jury looked into the matter, and expressed its disapproval of the way the thing worked. The District Attorney referred the matter to the Attorney-General, who has just handed down his opinion, in which he holds that the provision for the division of the fine is not warranted, and void.

ed under special arrangement with t 8, 8. McClure Co., New York.) HE coolness between Mrs. Wentworth and Mrs. Drewelowe was beginning to occasion remark. They met frequently, for Mrs. Drewelowe was the gracious mistress of a beautiful Euclid-avenue home, while just around the corner, upon a short and unpretentious side street, the smaller house rented by Prot. Mrs.
Wentworth.

of the most shiftless man in the village.

In those days Mrs. Wentworth had lived on no side street, but in the stately, white-pillared mansion which crowned the highest hill in Mayville, and which was pointed to with pride as the home of Judge Titus. Fate plays strange tricks! After the death of the judge, when the lawyers were quite through, somehow there was little or nothing left for the daughter, although one of the lawyers took his entire family abroad within the year and the other built himself a new house.

The trouble began at the Culture Chuh. Mrs. Wentworth had felt sure she had detected a most peculiar smile upon Mrs. Drewelow's face at the precise moment when she stood up to read her paper on "Egyptian Architecture." Then, later in the afternoon, Mrs. Roberts, also of Euclid avenue, had leaned over and said, laughingly: "Mrs. Wentworth, Mrs. Drewelowe says she don't believe you ever wrote that paper. It was so good she thinks your nusband must have written it."

Any club woman knows this is a most grievous insuit.

Mrs. Wentworth gave charming little tass in a modest, jide-street fashion, and the bitterness rankled in her heart to such an extent that she left Mrs. Drewelowe off her list the next week. Then there was an elaborate social function at the Euclid-avenue mansion, and Mrs. Wentworth did not receive cards.

But, the cilmax was reserved for heart to gut the cilmax was reserved for the some way to copy my bonnet, and den't you think, Mrs. Roberts, it is an outrage?"

Alas! Annie Wentworth, daughter of Judge Titus, to be thus openly bouted by a Duzenbury!

It was bad enough to be reduced to living on a side street; to watching ser in the lead of the most exclusive set in the city, but to be accused of copying her clothes, that was the last traw. Move? Indeed, they'd move, the last of May. She would resign from the last of the list of May. She would resign from the Culture Club! They would go where she might never sheet this regal, queenly daughter of aimless, shiftless old Duzenbury; nor her husband, who had made his fortune in kerosene.

The minister soared away in magnificent flights of oratory, but Mrs.
Wentworth's mind constantly returned to the problems of how the bonnets came to be alike, and what Mrs. Drewelowe had whispered to Mrs. Roberts.
At last she solved the first question.
Mrs. Drewelowe had discovered her treasure, the little milliner, who made it possible for her, the wife of Prof.
Wentworth, to appear for 310 in bonnets which looked as though they had cost 310, the poor little relic of better days who lived in the old tumble-down brick building behind the cathedral, and who had a wonderful knack of copying expensive bonnets. But the colossal ingratitude of that milliner!
To place her oldest customer in such a humiliating position! Mrs. Wentworth turned cold all over with the remembrance of the whisper. Oh! the letter she would send with the bonnet straight back to that traitress!
She was quite hysterical by the time the last amen was pronounced, and hurried the dazed professor home at a rapid pace. Patiently he listened to the time-worn complaints—the wreck of her father's estate, the bitterness of seeing Marie Drewelowe in her beautiful home, while she must live in an obscure corner.

Tenderly he soothed her and bathed her throbbing temples. Years of wedded life had taught him the futility of argument when his wife's mind was made up. He remembered, too, that for love of him she had refused Henry Drewelowe back in the old sunny days at Mayville.

Unable to be up the next morning, nevertheless she managed to indite a bitter, accusing note to the little milliner and dispatch it with the bonnet by a messenger boy. Several days elapsed and no answer came. Finally, in desperation, she gathered her strength and boarding a down-town car was soon mounting the steps of the old brick building behind the cat softened and already repentant woman stepped aside and silowed her to ad-vance to the bedside. Mrs. Drewelowe heard her own name and Mrs. Went-worth's mingled, falling incoherently from the parched lips. After a mo-ment she turned and faced Mrs. Went-worth.

But the climax was reserved for caster morning in the vestibule of the Euclid-avenue church.

Mrs. Drewelowe and Mrs. Wentworth met, and, remembering the sacred threshold, bowed less coldly than usual, then gasped and stood transfired. Taking in every flower and knot of lace they realised that their beautiful naw Easter bonnets were exactly silks.

Their husbands, balancing their hats carefully in one hand, and with the other holding each a vestibule door, were courteously awaiting them. They had cordially shaken hands, for it ill became dignified men to notice women's small quarrels.

Mrs. Drewelowe was first to recover. "A besuitful morning," she said in her sweet, even tones, and a bar of purple and yellow flashed from the window across the violets in her bonnet as she turned and swept after her husband.

Mrs. Wentworth bowed in silence, biting her lips in vexation, and raised a delicately-gloved hand up to see if her bonnet, that had cost her so many economies, was really upon her head, or upon that of rich Maria Drewelowe. She felt that now, as ever, since they had lived in the city, Mrs. Drewelowe turn and stare directly back at her, smile in a superior way, then whisper something to Mrs. Mrs. Drewelowe turn and stare directly back at her, smile in a superior way, then whisper something to Mrs. Mrs. Drewelowe had said as well as though the had heard every word.

It was a fashionable hour: everybody was abroad, and the dignified Drewelowe coachman felt quite humiliated by the peals of merry laughter which rippled from the aristocratic Drewelowe equippage.

THE STUFF

Earns a Decision Over Jim Tremble.

He's Easy to Hit, but Hard to Hurt.

Banner of the Oakland Nine Trailed in the Dust-Presidio Golf.

Billy Woods received a well-earned decision over Jim Tremble in the twenty-round bout which was pulled off last night in Turner Hall under the off last night in Turner Hall under the management of the Alpha Athletic Club. He should have registered a knockout but for the unfortunate hubbub raised in the fifteenth round, when, after Woods had floored his man four times, and had him all but out, both men went to their corners while there was thirty seconds more to the round. It was Woods's fight all the way through. Tremble landed almost whenever he chose, but his blows had no effect. He was far the more clever of the two, and it was only his masterly work in the ring which enabled him to go the distance. A hot preliminary between kid Long and Walter Lane was given to the former in the seventh on a foul.

The main event by rounds was as follows:

ollows: First round—Tremble leads and lands left on jaw and follows up with a right uppercut to the same place. Woods ducks two vicious swings and then leads the left twice to the white man's jaw. Both land right and left as they please without damage. Honors easy.

From the third to the fifteenth round it was anybody's fight, with Woods doing most of the leading. Tremble showed consummate ring generalship, and his defense was of the cleverest. Woods took all that he gave and was always there with a counter. Woods played for the kidneys and Tremble for the nose, which he got to flowing with a left jab. Tremble's blows seemed to have plenty of steam, but they had apparently no effect upon the negro, who showed himself to be a veritable mule for punishment. Woods has improved a thousand per cent, since his last fight.

Seventeenth round—Both men were at it and willing. Woods started things going with a hard left to the jaw. Both fought carefully. Woods got his man in a corner and got in a hard one on the jaw with his left. Jim's head went back and before he recovered Woods had him down with another left swing. Tremble took nine. Again he went down with the sampunch. Again he took his time. Twice more he went to the floor with that terrible left swing, each time taking the limit. He had just got on his feet after the fourth down, when, amid the noise, somebody called time and both men went to their corners. They had still haif a minute to fight and Woods certainly had his man had not the mistake cert made.

Tremble recuperated wonderfully and came up in condition to use his superb defense. The balance of the fight was characterized by Tremble's efforts to avoid a knockout. After the fifteenth there was no longer any question as to the outcome. In the last round Woods sent his man into the ropes, and Tremble only saved himself from a knockout by ducking a left swing as he was hanging on the ropes. Tremble made some objection, for unknown easons to Harry Stuart, the official referee, and after considerable delay, Dick Murphy was induced to officiate. His work was good and his decision was the only one possible. The preliminary was a very fast bout, scheduled to go ten rounds. Lane had the best of it all the way through, and there was some good, clean, hard fighting. Lane was far the heavier of the two men, and undoubtedly would have obtained the decision had not he fouled his man in the seventh. There were 700 followers of fistlana in the hall.

GRIFFIN AND KENNEDY. Hank Griffin and Joe Kennedy will meet in the ring in this city during La meet in the ring in this city during La Fiesta. There is no longer any doubt of the match. The Alpha Athletic Club, which is to handle the affair, has met the terms asked by Kennedy's manager and the signing of the articles is all that remains. The fight will take place in Hazard's Pavillon and with it will be put on several pre-liminaries as curtain-raisers.

The only hitch to the deal, when it was first broached, was the matter of terms. Kennedy refused to come to this city unless a suitable guarantee was offered. The club was willing to give him 60 per cent. of the gross receipts and his expenses, but he refused. The club management finally decided to offer the terms demanded, a guarantee of $400, and the deal is prac-

The club management finally decided to offer the terms demanded, a guarantee of $400, and the deal is practically completed.

The big crowd which turned out last night to see the Tremble-Woods go assures the Alpha people that good men in the ring will draw and they propose to give two nights of first-class attractions in the fistic line during the coming festivities. They are in correspondence with some of the begt-known pugs in the business and Los Angeles will see some good ones next month.

OS ANGELES WINS BY SPLENDID WORK.

POOR EXHIBITION MADE BY THE OAKLAND NINE.

Pleasing-Poor Support for Dr. Moskiman of the Visitors-Eight Hundred Witness the Game.

In a game replete with hard hitting, brilliant fielding and awful errors, the Los Angeles baseball nine won the third of the series yesterday at Wash-The stain of the initial shut out was wiped out and the eight hundred fans who were in attendence were happy.

The game was won through the fine fielding of the locais, hits at opportune times, and the very bad support accorded to Dr. Moskiman, who officiated for the visitors. The medical student corded to Dr. Moskiman, who officiated for the visitors. The medical student was also also very wild; and this had something to do with the final result. The Oakland team put up a out as poor an exhibition as has ever been seen on local grounds. They fumbled and threw wild, and muffed flies until one began to wonder what they were trying to do. And they falled to connect with Johnsons curves.

Young Johnson, the comedian, made his debut as a Los Angeles pitcher. He did well. Fr four innings he held the visitors down without a hit, and then they began to lay for the wide curve which he used so much. In the last five innings they lined out six hits, good hard drives, and it was only by the best of luck and phenomenal fielding that they were prevented from scoring. Johnson looks good. He has a very wide out shoot, which he worked for all it was worth, but his command was poor. He had the fans on the anxious seat more than once. His speed as yet is nil, but he may improve as the weather grows warm. He used his head to good advantage, and with the exception of a little hurry now and then, pitched a good game.

Kelly kept up his good work at short, and Bowman made a beautiful catch in left. Brockhoff and Reilly made their entrance into the base-hit column, and Eddie Householder came along at the right time with a fine smash for two sacks into left. Moskiman had the phenomenal record of nine assists in his position, some of which were hard ones. Drennan led both teams at the bat with two singles and a double.

AUGUSTA'S HEAVY LOSS.

in Odd Fellows' Hall.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. HELENA (Mont..) April 5.—(E) HELENA (Mont.) April 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Almost all of the business portion of the town of Augusta, about fifty miles west of Great Falla, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The loss is in the aggregate about $50,000, and it is a serious blow to the town in which it occurred, and was probably the most disastrous fire which has visited this part of Montana for a number of years.

The fire started about 4 o'clock this morning in the Odd Fellows' Hall, over the large general store of $\frac{3}{2}$. C. Adams, and every building on the south side of the slough, which runs through the business portion of the town, was destroyed with the exception of the Augusta

Did he draw his revolver and shout the first man who tried to run?

One Way of Preventing a Catastrophe Which Pailed to Work in Los Angeles.

"T repeat it, gentlemen; the man who will lose his head in a panic is the biggest kind of a fool idiot."

It was a six-footer who made the foregoing remark in one of the Los as the representative of an eastern gun manufactory, and it was his first trip to the Pacific Casat, else this story would never have been narrated. The remark was called forth in conversation with several of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store their head-quarters, and who were discussing the wouldn't do under ordinary circumstens of the congenial spirits who make this store the big six-footer through the ascending wreaths of cigar smoke. "Everbeen caught in such a pinch yourself? Maybe you can give us some pointers that may prove of valua to us at some time in our travels."

"No, Iwe never been in a wreck or in a building, when the cry of 'Fire!' was raised." acknowledged the big man. "But I know I could prevent a panic. In fact, I have such unbounded faith in my ability to control myself at such times that I will wager $100 I could stand the test," and he jingled several gold pieces in his pocket, and looked around the room to see if any one wanted to take up his wager.

No one did. There was slience for several seconds, and finally a man in a light overcost, who had thus far made no remarks, said:

"Well, suppose you were caught in such a fix, and were called upon to prove your coolness. What would be your plan of action, anyway?"

"The very first thing I would dowould be to have every passenger summoned on deck. and then Mned up. I would draw my revolver and have the captain inform them that the boat was would be to have every passenger summoned on deck, and then Mined up. I would draw my revolver and have the captain inform them that the boat was sinking, as we must abandon the ship. If any man made a break from the line while the news was being told, I would shoot him dead—deader a skinned monkey—so I would. Then I would issue orders in a calm voice; have the sailors put life preservers around every passenger before they would be allowed to leave the ranks. Then I would have the life boats lowered, put in the women and children first, and fill up the rest with the men who were left. Of course, I myself, would be the last person to leave the ill-fated ship."

"Of course," remarked the whole group in chorus, as the six-footer concluded his remarks, puffed out his chest and looked very wise.

While the conversation was waxing warm one of the clerks slipped down to the rear of the store and poured a quantity of powder out on a shovel, and as the big man was explaining his plan of action, gave one of the men in the group the wink. It was instantly communicated to the others, by a system of mental telepathy known only to the up-to-date Californian, and as the big six-footer was flourishing his arms and gesticulating wildly, there was a sudden fiash, an explosion, and as a big cloud of smoke rose toward the celling, a shout of "Fire!" rang ti.rough the store.
